LOOKING BACK

by Beatrice Akerley Published December 4, 1997

December may be one of the coldest months of the year but it's also the season that holds more than its share of warm and wonderful memories.

Looking back to the early 1900's, in December, Orchard Lake usually froze solid and it was a favorite place for us school kids to slide during our noon hour lunch break and we often met there after supper. We could be found gliding together on the ice under the starry skies, memories never to be forgotten.

What fun it was to gather greenery to decorate our schoolhouse for our Christmas programs that were held every year. Our schoolhouse looked especially beautiful on the night of our program. Lights from our kerosene lamps shone through the windows, making shadows on the white ground. The maple trees, weighted down with snow, always seemed to say "shake me" and there was a limb on one of the trees low enough for me to reach and shake. I always ended up with a shower of snow and I loved it.

December brought snow and that brought the young and the young at heart to Koon's Hill after supper with their sleighs. At the word "go", we would all run and belly flop on our Flexible Flyers and King of the Hill sleds. Those who didn't bring sleds hopped on the pair of Bobs which were always ready and waiting for a wild ride down the hill. Cumbersome clothing cushioned the flop and our wool scarves, wet with snow, iced our faces all the way to the finish line.

December was the month that "Jack Frost" made his first appearance on our windows and traced beautiful scenes for our enjoyment.

Then look at what Santa brought. Was there ever a morning "more exciting than Christmas? Not for us kids and not for the "kid" in all of us who still get a kick out of that magical day which is right around the corner. The month of December is seasonably cold but the thrill of the holiday and the fun of getting together with family and friends certainly chased away the chill.

The Majesty and Magic of a Christmas Tree

This beautiful big evergreen tree grew up in Vestal, NY. Watch the story of this majestic tree that has brought the magic of Christimas all over the world as it was lit on Wednesday evening..

https://www.today.com/video/learn-the-story-behind-the-2023-rockefeller-center-christmastree-197566021568

In reality every evergreen is the perfect Christmas Tree. Just think - as cold and dark as winter might be, a Christmas Tree remains green the year around. – thus they are named,

"Evergreens".

For early Christians evergreens symbolized everlasting life because their boughs stayed green all year. years Thousands before of Christianity, in the Northern hemisphere, as the Winter solstice approached, the ancient people observed the air becoming colder, the days getting shorter and the deciduous trees, bushes, and crops dying . They became afraid as they believed the sun was disappearing and that the Earth would eventually freeze. They did notice that some plants and trees remained green all year long and believed that such trees and plants had magical powers that allowed them to withstand the cold of winter.

Once evergreens covered the whole world. It took millions of years for the evergreen trees to perfect three magic tricks on behalf of all evergreen trees to come.

The first and most important is photosynthesis or transforming sunlight into green chlorophyll.

Think of one sunbeam composed of tiny particles of electromagnetic radiation energy called photons. Each wee little photon has zero rest mass and charge plus spin of one. Sound a little 'out there'? That is how it changes sunlight into chlorophyll - a technology called photonics. Here's what happens:

As a sunbeam shines on a pine needle filled with water, the photons radiant energy splits each molecule of water into hydrogen and oxygen. The oxygen is discarded back into the air. The hydrogen mixes with air inside the needle or leaf and builds a new molecule of chlorophyll, which is a carbohydrate (sugar). The whole process takes thirty seconds!

To split the water molecule requires the color bands of red, orange and blue - from the rainbow light spectrum. Only these colors transform light into chlorophyll or a carbohydrate (sugar). The middle of the rainbow, where green is located is mostly reflected. This is why a pine needle looks green.

Evergreen trees store little packages of carbohydrates as liquid sugar cells everywhere in the tree - needles, limbs, trunk, bark and roots - and in cold weather convert the sugar into an alcoholic substance slow to freeze. Pioneers actually made a tasty drink called Spruce Beer by boiling young twig tips in water and adding molasses and yeast to taste.

The second magic trick performed by evergreens is transporting the alcohol throughout the whole tree in long pipeline cells whose woody sidewalls thicken in winter weather.

The last trick is that all evergreens except tamarack and cypress keep sap flowing through needles year around. Broadleaf trees by contrast make cork cells at the end of the leaf stem, thus blocking water and causing the leaf to drop off in autumn. Not the Evergreen - they simply look elegantly green all year around making them very special this time of the year, especially after the new snowfall.

We are so fortunate living in the Catskills. With so many evergreen trees in our forests and countryside, despite the cold and darkness of winter, we are certain to begin to feel the magic of Christmas knowing that evergreems are just as green now as they were on a sunny day last summer! May your holidays be a little brighter every time you see and feel the magic of another Christmas Tree whether it is in your home, in a neighbor's window or front yard or standing tall and green in our forests and countryside. They are all filled with the same magic.

And don't forget the Annual Tree Lighting Festivities and visit from Santa at Bi-Centennial Park in Grahamsville this Sunday, December 3 at 5 pm.

Green Building Technology Student Dominique Etienne presents Algal Bloom/CyanoHAB Research at Biomedical Research Conference in Phoenix

By now many Hudson Valley residents are pretty wary of harmful algal blooms in area waterbodies and the health impacts they can have on humans and pets. This month SUNY Sullivan Green Building Technology major Dominique Etienne will travel to Phoenix, AZ, to present the results of her research on these algal blooms or CyanoHABs at the Annual Biomedical Research Conference for Minoritized Students (ABRCMS).

Etienne's poster talk, "The Effects of Climate Change on Cyano-HABs," explored the impact that seasonal temperature changes can have on these algal blooms or Cyano-HABs. Her study is the result of research she did this past summer in the Bridges to the Baccalaureate Program at SUNY Purchase, a paid eight-week summer research program funded by the National Institutes of Health.

"My project was very interesting to me because we really looked into the human and environmental causes and impacts of harmful algal blooms and CyanoHABs," said Etienne. "The Bridges program did a really good job of preparing us for everything that we did. For example, we had our first practice symposium recorded so we could watch our feedback and we talked with the mentors on how we could improve ourselves. The feedback and repetitive practicing really made me improve throughout the program so I feel that I'm ready for ABRCMS!" (Contd. Pg. 12)

The Bone Hunger Legacy Mysterious Book Report No. 64 Mysterious Book Report No. 415

Published December 2, 2021 by John Dwaine McKenna

All novelists are bright. That's because writing is a craft that demands much, and promises nothing more than thousands of hours of solitary and challenging work, putting together what we hope will be a story with an engaging plot, interesting characters and a few surprises along the way that will entertain and involve our readers, maybe even get them back for more of the same character. It's a tough row to hoe, as my old granny used to say . . . but that, I think is what gives writing its allure. It's hard to do well. Damned hard.

Then, along comes a writer with such talent that she makes the near-impossible look easy . . . which is a mark of genius. Her name is Carrie Rubin. She's a physician-turned author, whose newest, The Bone Hunger, (Indigo Dot Press, $25.99, 305 pages, ISBN 978-1-7328541-4-7) is a genre-bending medical thriller, murder mystery and paranormal hair-raiser, all rolled into one. It features a second year orthopedic surgery resident named Benjamin Oris, who's the star pupil on a knee and hip replacement team under the tutelage of the illustrious Dr. Kent Lock, at Philadelphia's Montgomery Hospital.

The novel —and the trouble —begins when Ben discovers the severed leg of one of his former patients while out for a run in the park. Not only is the leg severed, it shows bite marks, a roadrunner tattoo . . . and the surgical implant Dr.

John Dwain McKenna's Books are now available at the NEVERSINK GENERAL STORE

Oris helped install just two weeks earlier. But the patient, who hadn't been following orders to exercise, had died in front of Ben from a blood clot in one of his lungs. The police, the hospital administration, and the surgical team all question Dr. Oris, who's had some problems in the past. Then, more body parts start showing up . . . and the killings and mutilations become more frequent . . . while the tension and suspense ratchets up with every page. Each new revelation deepens the mystery and enlarges the suspect pool in this complex medical thriller. It will leave you feeling as if you're ready to scrub in for the next orthopedic surgery with the same team that recently survived a plane crash in wintertime in Alaska, and five days without food, while on a humanitarian mission. The Bone Hunger has more twists and turns than the Iditarod Race. It'll keep you guessing until the end and hollering for more from Carrie Rubin, a woman with a special gift for writing and a serial character you'll admire, if not love, named Dr. Ben Oris!

The Olive Jar by Carol Olsen LaMonda

Let the Decorating Begin

Okay. It is now culturally okay to begin the decorating for the holiday season. I know a number of people have jumped the starting line marked by Thanksgiving. This is not only the weekend of Black Friday and Cyber Monday, it is officially OKAY to drag out the decorations and lights.

Many will be out cutting down Christmas trees (and Hanukah bushes) and putting them up. When my kids were little, we did this in friendship groups. We would trek over the bridge to Redhook and cut our real tree down. I remember the last one we did cost $25. and we all complained how the cost keeps rising.

Now I think you need to apply for a small personal loan to do this. Then we would gather at the Boiceville Inn in the back room and have a potluck celebration.

This year and almost every year, I put an artificial tree just outside my living room sliders. It sits in my umbrella stand that goes through my mom's metal picnic table. It has lights on it but is actually a bird feeder with popcorn and cranberries and pine cones with peanut butter and birdseed.

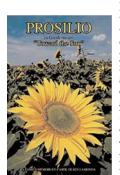

Which brings me to my real topic of discussion. I must have seven bins full of my holiday paraphernalia. Dishes, linens, ornaments, lights, cards, wrapping paper, do-dads, and tins that I no longer unpack. I have found that Mother Nature has reminded me that there is nothing prettier than a vase of holly, boxwood, and red swamp berries. Pine cones fill bowls and my live poinsettia, the stockings, and my supermarket little tree, which has now become a two-foot Norfolk pine, is about all the inside decoration I need.

The woodstove and candles add to the holiday glow.

I will enjoy seeing all the lawn decorations, lighted windows, and trappings of other neighbors,

Daniel Pierce Library Between the Bookends

Festive Vibe at the DPL Brings Holiday Cheer By Lisa Carroll

GRAHAMSVILLE-Technically, winter doesn't begin until December 21, but there sure has been a nip to the air lately. It's November in upstate NY, so yea we're all familiar with it and know it's not going anywhere until at least mid-April. That's the bad news. The good news: we have plenty of warm, cheerful holiday vibes to go around here at the Daniel Pierce Library, complete with a warm, festive atmosphere we are busily decorating and a plethora of great books and movies to curl up and

I implore you to come check out the library if you haven't in a while; first and foremost, for the aforementioned vibe. Our upstairs reading room is just breathtaking-a room ripe for pure literary magic (if you have a book in hand) or a beautifully serene room (if you need to work). As the season unfolds we will continue to deck the halls with special decorations, including those thoughtfully done by the 4H Puppy Pals and more amazing artwork brought to us by Tri-Valley CSD sixth graders.

Secondly, as we wind down from Thanksgiving and our fall appointed activities, we're also gearing up for our special holiday events. We have four nights of musical performances in the works; with more information coming as the days get closer. So, please check out our website and social media platforms (and as always, this column) regarding this and all of our comings and goings.

We've brought out the holiday movies for checkout-both adult and children-to get everyone in the holiday spirit as well as books on display for adults, young adults and children. If you are in need of a new cookie recipe to try out for a swap or a heart-warming "Hallmark-esk" romance novel, we are here for you. If you are intrigued by Pinterest pins, imploring you to read 25 days of holiday books to your children, we are here for you (and in a much more budget friendly and eco-conscious way than purchasing said books). If you're in need of suggestions, holiday or otherwise, we can help you out there too. That's one of our favorite superpowers-matching good reads with the right people!

With so much going on, there's a little bit of something for everyone. Keep in mind, a lot of our special programs and events, like Holiday Felting (which is full), fill up fast, so keep tabs on what's going on here for things that interest you. And, if you have an idea for something that you would like to see on rotation, please let us know. We're always happy to hear from our patrons and to be as accommodating as possible.

A final thought-with the hustle and bustle of the holidays and with the upcoming school vacation-we make a wonderful respite from chaos. We have books and toys galore for little ones to look at and play with as you sit back and have a moment, we're a great place to stop by and chat especially if you're feeling a little lonely and it's warm and cozy!

The Scene Too — By Jane Harrison

The worst part of having this 'foot problem" is the realization that I have to slow down. I was with my bestie in Saugerties this weekend and I fought so hard to not to slow down that I ended up being really grumpy...not towards her but towards myself. It was then I realized that I needed to adjust because this bone bruise isn't going to magically disappear, so I may as well just relent and take it easy. Just that little adjustment in thinking has made my life a lot easier.

I had been to Saugerties before, but on the outskirts to see a musician I knew perform but this was the first time I had been to Saugerties proper. We had lunch at The Valley Diner that I have to say was a cut above. My Caesar wrap was amazingly fresh as was my friend's vegetable stir fry. If you find yourself there, I highly recommend it. AND it's just down the street from the incredible INQUIRING MINDS bookstore. (Whenever Felicia and I 'hang out' we find bookstores.) This one has a large selection of gently used books of all genres from the classics to the modern, children's books, religions, you name it. Big comfy couches to sit and a coffee bar with interesting, sweet delights. We could have spent the entire afternoon there!!

But onward we went to the WOODSTOCK ART EXCHANGE. Having spent more than a decade doing stained glass, any glass works appeal to me. This store was stocked with blown glass items, most created by the owner, who had the chance to talk to, and some by other artists. I was surprised by the number of useful pieces along with decorative ones! Drinking glasses, salad bowls, serving bowls...the list goes on. And the prices were very reasonable considering what it takes to actually make one of these.

And of course, I didn't get pictures pout. Too focused on my foot.

I did, however, get pictures of the POISON LOVE band at the HASBROUK TAVERN on Sunday. The time was a bit weird (they started at noon) but it didn't seem to matter to them. JOANNE WASSERMAN BRINKERHOFF on guitar, DAN BRINKERHOFF fiddle, and SAMMY ALEXANDER electric percussion provided their usual excellent show.

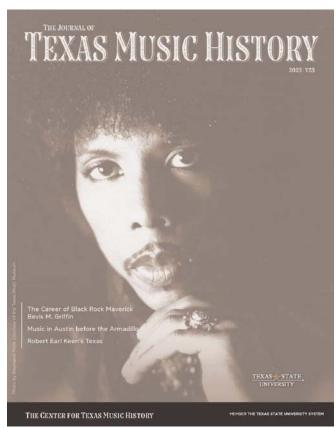

The majority of the songs one hears are written by Joanne and Dan and are the 'slice of life' lyrics that are intimately relatable. 'Making My Way Through Texas' based on Dan's travels in the state. Joanne is an observer which comes through in 'Maybe' and 'When I Used To Give A Damn'. Some with Cajun undertones, some with Country and a lot with humor and all just downright enjoyable.

This is one of the groups I try to see anytime they are around the area. One is never disappointed.

SHANE RENNISON, another of our native sons, is making quite a name in the music circles with his EP NICE TO MEET YOU. He will be at the RUSSIAN MULE Saturday, December 2nd at 5pm.

And last week I told you about December 10th at the SULLI-VAN COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY and MUSEUM with LITTLE SPARROW and the Jazz duo of VAN MANAKAS and WAYNE LOPES sponsored by the FREDRICK COOK SOCIETY. Imagine my surprise, when scrolling through the news on my phone I ran across the promo in MID HUDSON NEWS! This is a free event with the doors opening at 11am.

And in Texas, my good friend BEVIS GRIFFIN, who was given the keys to Austin several years ago now, is being featured in THE JOURNAL OF TEXAS MUSIC HISTORY. Congratulations!

And that's it for this week.

Stay safe, stay well and keep that hand sanitizer handy.

Green Building Technology Student Dominique Etienne Presents Algal Bloom/CyanoHAB Research At Biomedical Research Conference in Phoenix

"I'm so happy that I get to be part of Dominique's experience at SUNY Sullivan," said SUNY Sullivan Bridges Program Coordinator Kathryn Scullion. "I'm proud of the research she has done through the Bridges Program and thrilled that she was chosen to present her work at ABRCMS. I feel very fortunate that she works in the labs with me and participates in the Garden Club because she's so hardworking, intuitive, and inquisitive, and just a pleasure to be around."

In addition to her studies at SUNY Sullivan, Etienne, a Middletown resident, works in the science labs, is a member of the Garden Club, and is interested in the Crochet, Art, and Gaming clubs. She also likes to hike on the campus's nature trails.

"Life at SUNY Sullivan for me is super fun and educational, and my professors have been super helpful with providing me support when I reach out to them with questions I have with coursework and provide me with extracurricular opportunities like the Bridges program," said Etienne, who hopes to work in the sustainability field after she graduates.

For over 20 years, the Annual Biomedical Research Conference for Minoritized Scientists (ABRCMS) has been the go-to conference for historically excluded community college, undergraduate, and postbaccalaureate students in science, technology, engineering, and mathematics.

The Bridges to the Baccalaureate Program is an intensive eight-week summer research program at SUNY Purchase for underrepresented community college students interested in science seeking hands-on research experience. The program includes on-campus housing, a $4,800 stipend, professional development, workshops, and off-campus field trips. Interested SUNY Sullivan students should contact Bridges Program Coordinator Kathryn Scullion at kscullion@sunysullivan.edu. For information about the program, visit purchase.edu/academics/school-of-natural-social-sciences/bridges-summer-program.

Warming Centers Open for the Season – New Location in Monticello

Monticello, NY - Sullivan County will be opening its two warming centers this week in Liberty and Monticello (note the location change from last year): o United Methodist Church, 170 North Main Street, Liberty

o St. John's Episcopal Church, 15 St. John Street, Monticello These facilities will remain open to anyone from 8 p.m. to 8 a.m. every night through Saturday, April 15, 2024.

"While last winter was relatively mild, we still had significant usage of both shelters," noted Sullivan County Health & Human Services Commissioner John Liddle. "Almost 150 people used the Liberty shelter, for a total of close to 1,000 stays since it opened last November. Monticello opened in December and served 123 people, for just under 500 stays overall. Because of a sharp increase in evictions in recent months and a shortage of affordable and supportive housing inventory, we expect utilization to be higher this winter. Fortunately, the New York State Office of Temporary and Disability Assistance (OTDA) supported our requests for additional funding to expand our operations this year."

Warming centers in Sullivan County exist to protect unsheltered individuals and families from the cold of the winter. Warming center staff are experienced and trained in working with people who have complex and severe service needs. These locations offer people more than a place to sleep, and human service providers from across the County chip in to help those in need gain access to medical care and other social service benefits.

Warming centers also give the vulnerable a place where they can feel safe. The Liberty warming center is directly across the street from the Village of Liberty police station, and additional funding granted by OTDA this year will provide onsite security at the Monticello warming center.

Deputy Social Services Commissioner Giselle Steketee added, "We're very fortunate to have such strong community partners. The team at the New Beginnings Community Worship Center and United Methodist Church have been exceptionally reliable and supportive as we've expanded our services in Liberty. We greatly appreciate St. John's Episcopal Church stepping up to help this year in Monticello as the Ted Stroebele Center gets the renovations it needs to serve the Monticello community for years to come, and we can't thank enough Kathy Kreiter and the Federation for the Homeless for stepping up once again to provide life-saving services to those in need."

[ELLENVILLE, NY] - SHADOWLAND STAGES is excited to bring audiences the much-loved holiday production Miss Bennet: Christmas at Pemberley. Written as a delightful sequel to Jane Austen's Pride and Prejudice by Lauren Gunderson and Margot Melcon, this romantic comedy hilariously reunites cherished characters at the Darcy home for a festive celebration. Recognized as one of the most produced plays in the U.S., Miss Bennet: Christmas at Pemberley will grace the MainStage at SHADOWLAND STAGES

Laura Cable*

Melody Ladd*

Ben Williamson*

will grace the MainStage at SHADOWLAND STAGES from December 1st through 17th.

This family-friendly romance stars Laura Cable* (last seen at SHADOWLAND in the 2023 hit comedy The 39 Steps) as Mary, the bookish middle sister coming into her own. Making his SHADOWLAND STAGES debut is Michael Raver*, portraying the anxious introvert Arthur de Bourgh, who Mary finds to be a kindred spirit and intellectual equal.

Directed by Brendan Burke, Miss Bennet: Christmas at Pemberley unfolds two years after the events of Jane Austen's masterpiece. Mary, growing weary of her role as the dutiful daughter amid her sisters' romantic escapades, discovers a potential love interest in Arthur - a "single man in possession of a good fortune." Mary must learn to be the heroine of her own story that the San Francisco Chronicle calls a "perfectly constructed love story".

Also in the cast are Melody Ladd* as Elizabeth "Lizzie" Darcy, Katharina Schmidt as Anne, Ben Williamson* as Mr. Darcy, Devon Caraway* as Jane Bennet, Lena Pepe* as Lydia Bennet Wickham, and Matthew Zimmerman* as Charles.

Don't miss the chance to experience the charm and warmth of Miss Bennet: Christmas at Pemberley - a heartwarming tale of love, family, and self-discovery set against the backdrop of the holiday season. "An unstuffy, highly entertaining and warm-spirited work, the kind of thing multiple generations can enjoy together." (Chicago Tribune)

For this holiday production, SHADOWLAND performance times will feature an earlier evening curtain time on Fridays and Saturdays at 7 PM ($43), and Saturdays and Sundays at 2 PM ($39). Preview performances are scheduled for December 1st at 7:00 PM and December 2nd at 2 PM, with tickets priced at $35.

Tickets for Miss Bennet: Christmas at Pemberley are now on sale and can be purchased online at shadow-landstages.org. For more information, contact SHADOW-LAND STAGES at (845) 647-5511.

SHADOWLAND STAGES, now in its remarkable 38th year, continues to be a beacon of artistic excellence in the Hudson Valley. From May to December, the theatre presents a diverse season of seven shows, including two musicals and a heartwarming holiday production. Alongside its mainstage presentations, SHADOWLAND STAGES proudly hosts the Academy at SHADOWLAND STAGES, an esteemed education program that offers a wide range of classes in acting, dance, and music for individuals of all ages. Report: First-of-its-kind Guaranteed Income Program in Rural Area Improved Financial, Physical, and Mental Well-being

In a report authored by the Center for Guaranteed Income Research at Penn's School of Social Policy & Practice (SP2), findings from the Ulster County, NY, pilot program show connections between the receipt of unconditional cash and improved financial security and quality of life in a rural context

KINGSTON, NY AND PHILADELPHIA, PA - People who received monthly cash payments for 17 months as part of the Ulster County Project Resilience guaranteed income program reported improved quality of life as a result of increased financial assistance, according to a report by SP2's Center for Guaranteed Income Research (CGIR).

Based in Ulster County, New York, Project Resilience is the first county-led guaranteed income program in the United States. "Ulster County encapsulates in microcosm the difficulties facing the American labor market, even before the impact of the pandemic," write the report's authors, Elizabeth DeYoung, Amy Castro, Nidhi Tandon, Allison Thompson, and Stacia West of CGIR. The study analyzed the impact and role of guaranteed income over time in a rural area.

The first in a series of CGIR reports collectively named The American Guaranteed Income Studies, the study found that despite the pandemic and rising cost of living, guaranteed income enriched participants' lives in several ways:

- 1. Improved financial health Guaranteed income increased people's household income and savings, providing them the ability to respond to financial emergencies and elevating their sense of self-worth and mattering.
- 2. Increased sense of self Participants felt an increased sense of hope, agency, and control over their ability to achieve their goals.
- 3. Enhanced quality of life Study participants experienced improved physical and mental health, along with increased access to food and affordable, stable housing.

In the face of an affordability crisis in Ulster County, with skyrocketing housing costs and stagnating wages, participants were better able to afford necessities like housing, food, and transportation, even as costs increased throughout the study period.

"Ulster County's first-in-the-nation basic income experiment showed the importance and the impact of providing direct relief to our residents," said U.S. Rep. Pat Ryan, who represents the Hudson Valley region. "These funds helped lower the cost of housing groceries medical hills and college debt."

housing, groceries, medical bills, and college debt."

One participant commented, "Something as simple as $500 a month.... changes the mindset a little bit. People can breathe a little bit more. They're like, OK, well, I have a little bit of flexibility. I can do this. I can get back on track. It gives them hope." Ulster County Executive Jen Metzger remarked that the results of the study add to a growing body of empirical research showing the benefits of direct cash assistance for struggling individuals and households. "We now have measurable data from our own county indicating that direct cash assistance helps reduce poverty and its associated risks and harms while enabling our residents to gain more agency and control over their lives. I want to thank Congressman and former County Executive Pat Ryan for spearheading this important initiative for our County residents," said County Executive Metzger.

Metzger drew a comparison between the potential of guaranteed income and the success of the Biden Administration's one-year expansion of the child tax credit. Extending fully refundable tax credits to families with little or no taxable income, the policy resulted in a historical decline of 46% in the nation's child poverty rate.

"Now that we've seen the Expanded Child Tax Credit lift millions of children out of poverty nationwide, direct cash assistance is a tool our state and federal lawmakers should consider to help and empower struggling families while minimizing red tape," Metzger said.

Project Resilience was a partnership between the Ulster County government, Community Foundations of the Hudson Valley, and Ulster Savings Bank, and funded by private donations. It provided 100 Ulster County households with monthly cash payments from May 2021 to September 2022.

Recipients' annual income was at or below $46,900, which was 80% of the area's median income level, and recipients were permitted to use the money as they saw fit. Researchers measured participant impact against a randomized control group of 84 other county residents who did not receive payments.

Initially slated for 12 months of $500 payments, Project Resilience was extended for an additional five months as the financial repercussions of the pandemic continued, with the payment amount decreasing during the five-month phase-out period. The amount decreased as the program titrated, with participants receiving $400 in July, $350 in August, and $250 in September of 2022.

"Against steep odds, the treatment group saw improved levels of financial well-being, which served as a catalyst for broader mental and emotional well-being. Guaranteed income contributed to self-worth, self-determination, and a newfound sense of freedom among recipients. People felt empowered to build skills and pursue long-term aspirations, to take risks and reclaim time for themselves," the authors write.

Governor Hochul Announces NY Awarded Nearly $24 Million in Federal Funding to Stfengthen and Modernize State's Electric Grid

 U.S. Department of Energy Grant Provides Support for New York Projects that Help Ensure Reliability of Infrastructure and Access to Affordable, Reliable Clean Energy Supports The Climate Leadership and Community Protection Act Goals to Transition to 100 Percent Zero-Emission Electricity by 2040

Governor Kathy Hochul today announced New York was awarded nearly $24 million in federal funding to strengthen and modernize the State's electric grid to reduce the impacts of extreme weather and natural disasters. The Grid Resilience and Tribal Formula Grant from the U.S. Department of Energy under the federal Bipartisan Infrastructure Law will provide support for New York projects that help ensure the reliability of the State's power sector infrastructure and access to affordable and clean electricity for New Yorkers. Today's announcement supports the Climate Leadership and Community Protection Act goals to transition to 100 percent zero-emission electricity by 2040.

"As we've seen, the severity of extreme weather events is not slowing down and requires ongoing preparation and the buildout of our infrastructure to minimize the impacts of climate change on communities," Governor Hochul said. "This funding underscores the benefits that New York's productive partnership with the federal government continues to bring to the state and will help us modernize our electric grid and its associated infrastructure as part of future powered by clean energy."

The New York State Energy Research and Development Authority (NYSERDA), which submitted an application to the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) on behalf of New York State, will administer the grant funds over a two-year period with the opportunity to apply for three additional years. NYSERDA plans to launch a competitive selection process in the first quarter of 2024 for projects that address goals in compliance with the award, which include:

o Storm Hardening: improving the resilience of the electric grid against disruptive events such as power outages due to storms that impact critical operations;

o Predictive Analytics: development of advanced data and metrics to detect electric system conditions before they become issues to support system reliability and resiliency; o Climate Justice: reducing carbon emissions to ensure benefits of investments flow to communities that are underserved, marginalized and overburdened by pollution; o Energy Affordability: deploying tools and technologies and ensuring optimized utilization of resources and electricity grid assets to reduce total system costs and address the burden of inadequate electricity distribution infrastructure: and

that were awarded a combined total of $125 million as the seventh cohort of Grid Resilience State and Tribal Formula Grants and will provide 15 percent matching funds through the Regional Greenhouse Gas Initiative as part of DOE's grant requirements. To learn more, visit NYSERDA's website and the Grid Deployment Office's website.

Senate Majority Leader Charles Schumer said, "Winter is coming for New York State, and New Yorkers know all too well how powerful storms can knock out electricity and put communities at risk. This major nearly $24 million federal investment will help strengthen and modernize our state's electric grid to become more resilient in the face of extreme weather, all while creating jobs and increasing access to affordable and clean electricity. Our Bipartisan Infrastructure & Jobs Law is powering a brighter, stronger electrical grid for New York, lowering costs for families and creating good-paying, clean-energy jobs"

Senator Kirsten Gillibrand said, "Every New Yorker should have access to reliable and affordable clean energy. This funding from the Department of Energy will be used for projects that strengthen and protect New York State's electric grid from the impacts of climate change, helping ensure communities have reliable access to clean electricity during extreme weather events. I am proud to have worked to help secure this funding through the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law for New York State and I will continue to fight to expand access to affordable, resilient, and clean energy for New Yorkers."

Funded through the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law and administered by DOE's Grid Deployment Office, the Grid Resilience State and Tribal Formula Grants distribute funding to states, territories, and federally recognized Indian Tribes, including Alaska Native Regional Corporations and Alaska Native Village Corporations, over five years based on a formula that includes factors such as population size, land area, probability and severity of disruptive events, and a locality's historical expenditures on mitigation efforts. Priority will be given to projects that generate the greatest community benefit providing clean, affordable, and reliable energy.

Youth Vaping Prevention Program Launches in Sullivan County

[LIBERTY, NY] Sullivan 180 recently held a training for educators, school nurses, school resource officers, and community members to become facilitators of the evidence-based CATCH My Breath Vaping Prevention Program. These facilitators are now able to access the complete curriculum and guide young people, grades 5 - 12, through a program that is known to reduce the chances of youth starting a lifelong addiction to nicotine.

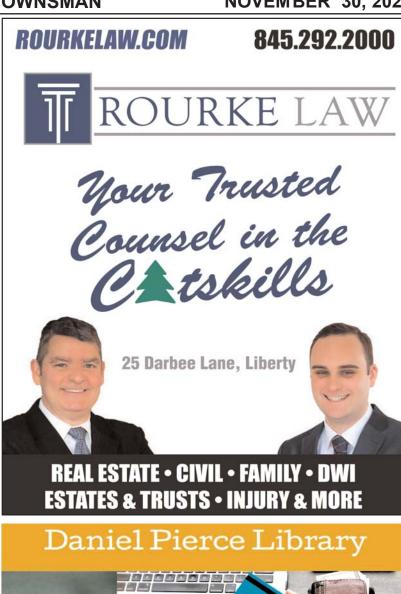

The presentation also partnering organizations from Garnet Health, the Center for a Tobacco Free Hudson Valley - American Lung Association, Tobacco Free Action Communities Reality Check Youth Engagement Program, and Catholic Charities of Orange, Sullivan & Ulster. Facilitators gained a toolkit of resources to implement in their schools and communities. Educators will receive CTLE's for completing this training thanks to an agreement with Sullivan BOCES.

Managing Director of Sullivan 180, Amanda Langseder, shared that "Students don't have the education or information they need to make an informed decision about vaping, let alone have the resources to get interventions when they are already hooked. Children have a right to understand what these vaping companies are doing. They have a right to understand what marketing tactics these companies are using on them, and that's what today [was] all about."

CATCH My Breath is currently being implemented at Sullivan BOCES in their alternative education program. For the past 6 weeks, BOCES students have been learning the curriculum and have shown interests in understanding the marketing tactics of the vaping industry, the dangers of vapes and e-cigarettes, and stress relief resources to handle their busy lives as students. Last Friday, November 17th, the students participated in the American Cancer Society's Great American Smokeout where they joined thousands across the county in taking an important step toward a smoke-free life. Students assembled "quit kits", filled with anxiety and stress relief items, mints and candies, and quitting resources, to distribute to their peers and family members.

If you would like the CATCH My Breath program brought to your school, organization, or youth group, please reach out to Nicole Blais, Sullivan 180 Prevention Coordinator atnicole@sullivan180.org or 845-295-2684.

Sullivan 180 is working to build a healthy community, one degree at a time, through people, places and policy with support from Bold Gold Media Group, The River Reporter, The Sullivan County Democrat, Manor Ink and WJFF Radio Catskill. Learn more at Sullivan180.org or Facebook.com/Sullivan180inc.

Governor Hochul Signs Legislation to Keep Kids Safe From Cardiac Emergencies Legislation S.7424/A.366A Requires Camps and

Youth Sports Programs to Establish an AED Implementation Plan Legislation Supported by Buffalo Bills Safety Damar Hamlin Aims to Save Lives, Protect Youth legislation Kathy Hochul today signed S.7424/A.366A requiring camps and youth sports programs to establish automated external defibrillator, or AED, implementation plans and to have at least one person trained to properly use the AED at camps, games and practice.

"We all remember the terrifying moment when Damar Hamlin was injured last February, but young athletes at schools and camps could be exposed to similar risks," Governor Hochul said. "By requiring camps and youth sports programs to establish an AED implementation plan, kids will be safer and teams will be prepared. I want every parent in New York to know: we're doing everything we can to keep your kids safe."

Buffalo Bills Safety Damar Hamlin said, "Growing up, in all the years that I played football, I don't remember thinking about where an AED was located or who was trained to use one. I think that many people have had the same experience. My journey has shown us that no one expects cardiac arrest to happen - and we all need to be prepared. By requiring that at least one person is trained to properly use an AED at every sports event, camp and practice, this new law will help protect tens of thousands of kids in New York State - and is a really important step in saving lives."

Legislation S.7424/A.366A, pursuant to changes agreed to with the Legislature, will require camps and youth sports programs with five or more teams participating to establish an AED implementation plan. Such plans will detail how AEDs will be made available or reasonably accessible at every camp, game or practice. The AED implementation plans will also detail how the camps and programs will ensure that when practicable at least one employee, volunteer, coach, umpire or other qualified adult who has successfully completed a training course in the operation of an AED is present.

State Senator Shelley B. Mayer said, "I am pleased that New York State will now require camps and many youth sport programs and leagues to develop a plan for AED access at all of their practices, games, and other events. More than 7,000 children experience cardiac emergencies each year, and too often an AED is not available. This legislation will make these programs safer and provide parents and young athletes with peace of mind. This issue is personal to so many New Yorkers -- Dana Colasante and Alice Schoen, two of my constituents, advocated for this bill after their close family members went into cardiac arrest at youth sporting events. Dana's husband and Alice's son thankfully survived because an AED was available, and they could receive immediate care. I am proud to have fought for this legislation alongside them and Assemblyman Otis to ensure other lives can be saved. I want to thank Governor Kathy Hochul for signing it into law today."

WMCHealth Network President and CEO Michael D. Israel said, "We know that when sudden cardiac events strike, the odds for survival are greatly improved when CPR is deployed and automated external defibrillators are nearby. As the founders of Project ADAM in New York where we work with area schools and sports teams on sudden cardiac arrest preparedness, we are delighted to partner on this bill with Gov. Kathy Hochul, Senator Shelley Mayer, Assemblyman Steve Otis, the American Heart Association and Damar Hamlin to make AEDs more widely available as well as equip, train and prepare others to join our cause of saving lives. The progress we're making to raise awareness about sudden cardiac events in children is a testament to Alice Schoen and Dana Colasante, who co-founded Project ADAM here at the Maria Fareri Children's Hospital."

Project ADAM New York at Maria Fareri Children's Hospital Co-founders Dana Colasante and Alice Schoen said, "After five years of advocating for awareness on the signs and risks of sudden cardiac arrest in children and how schools and youth sports leagues can prepare with accessible automated external defibrillators and CPR/AED training, we are thrilled that Governor Hochul signed Bill S7424 into law that will improve the cardiac chain of survival. There have been too many children on athletic fields and courts, at camps and at schools, who died and whose lives might have been saved had an AED been readily available. We are so grateful to Assemblyman Steve Otis and to Senator Shelley Mayer for championing this life-saving legislation."

American Heart Association Westchester Board President Dr. Patrick Thomas said, "The American Heart Association goal is to turn bystanders into lifesavers, so that in time of cardiac emergency anyone, anywhere is prepared and empowered to become a vital link in the chain of survival. We applaud the advocacy of Project ADAM NY in taking a step towards ensuring more access to AEDs at camps and youth sports program and we look forward to working with Governor Hochul and the legislature to continue to work to pass policies that will increase survival from sudden cardiac arrest."

The President's Challenge Scholarship Program, administered by the SUNY Ulster Foundation, identifies eighth-grade students who would be the first in their families to attend college and provides them with mentorship and college-readiness support throughout high school. Upon graduation, these students are then granted the opportunity to attend SUNY Ulster tuition-free for two years. The scholarship program aligns with Metzger's vision to promote equitable opportunities for Ulster County youth to follow their dreams and realize their full potential.

NICK NEEDS KIDNEY -TYPE O

(IN SOME CASES TYPE A BLOOD COULD WORK)

Chronic Kidney Disease (CKD) progresses in stages and, if untreated, can lead to complete loss of kidney function. At CKD stage 5, when both kidneys fail completely, the only options for survival are dialysis or a kidney transplant. Nick is at stage 5.

If interested in donating please contact Westchester Medical Center and speak with a Living Donor Coordinator at 914.493.1990

More about our warrior Nick....

Nick was diagnosed with Tuberous Sclerosis Complex (TSC) at birth. TSC is a neurological disorder that produces seizures, tumors, and lesions that effect the organs of the body and can cause Autism. Nick has been battling with seizures his whole life from infantile spasms to adult grand-mal seizures. May 2019 we heard the worst news that Nick's function was under 10% on both kidneys. Since then Nick has had multiple surgeries so he could get the proper dialysis preformed. Nick goes in center for 4 hours 3 times a week. Not what the sweetest, kindest, 31 year old should be going through.

Nick has such a big heart and is loved by so many in our community. We all want Nick to have the best quality of life and going through dialysis does not provide that quality. We hope and pray a kidney comes to us and that Nick will be able to live a happy and healthy life doing what he loves and that is to bicycle all throughout our town making people smile. Nick is a big part of the community, he takes pride with his volunteer work with the EMS and is the Honorary member of the Monticello Fire Department.

Lets all band together for Nick and help him find a kidney so he can live life to the fullest!

Congressman Pat Ryan Secures Major Funding for Ulster County Public Safety

Ryan delivers $400,000 for Ulster County to implement a crisis intervention team to combat the addiction and overdose epidemic

KINGSTON, NY - Today, Congressman Pat Ryan secured $400,000 for the Ulster County Sheriff's Office to implement a crisis intervention team to combat the addiction and overdose epidemic. The crisis intervention team will partner with the Ulster County Department of Mental Health, the Ulster County Sheriff's Office, and the Opioid Response as County Law Enforcement's High Risk Mitigation Team (ORACLE). The federal funding comes from the U.S. Department of Justice's Office of Community Oriented Policing Services (COPS) grant programs.

"Our local law enforcement officers are on the front lines of the opioid epidemic - we need to get them the proper resources to carry out the enormous responsibilities entrusted to them. These federal dollars will go a long way to combatting the addiction crisis and keeping Hudson Valley families safe," said Congressman Pat Ryan. "I'm proud to have supported the ORACLE program since day one - what Sheriff Figueroa and the entire Ulster County Sheriff's Office have done is nothing short of remarkable. I will continue to use every tool at my disposal to combat the opioid crisis."

"For the past five years this office and our communities have been aggressively battling the Opioid epidemic. Our local, state, and federal partners have assisted us with this endeavor taking a multi-front approach of combating supply and demand while simultaneously using innovative ideas and strategies to connect those with the resources for help and recovery," said Ulster County Sheriff Juan Figueroa. "The frontline work of our ORACLE team identified that 28 % of all non-fatal overdoses were intentional in 2022. The Federal DOJ COPS grant will establish a behavioral health coresponse team fully embedded with our law enforcement. This co-response team will be known as the Support and Advocacy through Frontline Engagement (SAFE) Team. Together with the partnership of behavior health providers they will bridge the gap and help connect those with mental and behavior health issues associated with substance use disorder. We look forward to working with the County Executive, the Department of Mental Health, and our local and federal partners for the betterment of our community."

"I want to extend my congratulations to Sheriff Juan Figueroa and his team at the Ulster County Sheriff's Office on receiving the U.S. Department of Justice's Community Policing Development grant, and express my gratitude for their dedication to our community's safety and resilience, and for continuously innovating to address the public safety challenges we face today," said Ulster County Executive Jen Metzger. "With these additional funds, the ORACLE team will be able to expand collaboration with community organizations on the ground and ensure that law enforcement responds appropriately and effectively in crisis situations involving mental health and substance use disorder."

The new team will be made up of 2 CIT trained Officers, 1 Crisis Clinical Social Worker, and 1 Mental Health Peer Advocate. In September, Congressman Ryan secured a $300,000 COPS grant for the Middletown Police Department to upgrade the Department's technology investments. Congressman Ryan also cosponsors the Invest to Protect Act of 2023 to extend COPS grant opportunities to smaller police departments as well.

Congressman Ryan has long advocated for increased funding for law enforcement and first responders, including making repeated calls for increased funding to combat fentanyl trafficking and cosponsoring legislation to establish a grant program to provide additional assistance to local law enforcement agencies. Last October, Congressman Ryan joined with local law enforcement to announce that over $2.6 million in federal funds were secured for local law enforcement agencies through the Edward Byrne Memorial Justice Assistance Grant (JAG) Program.

Congressman Pat Ryan Fights to Lower Prescription Drug Prices, Introduces the "Stopping Pharma's Ripoffs and Drug Savings For All Act"

Legislation will make it easier to produce generic drugs, lowering prices for Hudson Valley families

POUGHKEEPSIE, NY - Today, Congressman Pat Ryan introduced legislation to lower the price of prescription drugs for Hudson Valley families. The "Stopping Pharma's Ripoffs and Drug Savings For All Act" would stop Big Pharma's abuse of current U.S. patent law and make less-costly, generic alternatives easier to produce.

"For too long, Big Pharma has been allowed to game the system, rake in record profits, and rip off hard working Hudson Valley families. I'm pushing relentlessly to finally hold Big Pharma accountable and lower the cost of prescription drugs," said Congressman Pat Ryan. "Hudson Valley families are feeling the pressure of making ends meet - this is a straightforward fix that will provide direct relief. I'll keep fighting to make healthcare more affordable for everyone in the Hudson Valley."

"I've had Type 1 diabetes since I was 12 years old. I've had to rely on insulin and medical necessities on a daily basis to keep me healthy. I loathe the fact that kids like me, that already have so much on their plate, also have stress about affording insulin" said JT Crawford, a 15 year-old NY-18 resident and Type 1 Diabetes Advocate. "Thank you to Congressman Ryan for listening to my story and fighting alongside kids like me across the Hudson Valley."

"As the CEO of Cornerstone Family Healthcare, I strongly support Congressman Ryan's 'Stopping Pharma's Ripoffs and Drug Savings For All Act' (H.R. 6436). This crucial legislation addresses the inflated costs of prescription drugs caused by the misuse of the patent system by pharmaceutical companies," said David Jolly, President & CEO of Cornerstone Family Healthcare. "By ensuring that brand name drug companies must justify additional patents, this act promotes affordable healthcare, aligning with our mission to provide accessible services to underserved communities. We commend this effort to make essential medications more affordable and accessible for all Americans."

"This legislation is a crucial step toward rectifying the exorbitant costs of prescription drugs that have burdened countless Americans. The bill strikes a necessary balance, preserving innovation incentives while addressing systemic changes that will help mitigate the cost pressures," said Susan Browning, Western Regional President for Nuvance Health and President of Vassar Brothers Medical Center. (Contd. PG. 53)

Congressman Pat Ryan Fights to Lower Prescription Drug Prices, Introduces the "Stopping Pharma's Ripoffs and Drug Savings For All Act"

(From PG. 52) "Congressman Ryan's commitment to accountability while striving for greater affordability aligns with our mission to ensure accessible healthcare for all hard-working families."

"NYSNA believes health care is a human right. Nurses work around the clock to keep New York families healthy, but too often, those tremendous efforts get undercut when patients can't afford the medications they need to stay healthy," said Dutchess County resident Margaret Franks, BSN, RN, MEDSURG-BC Lower Hudson/NJ Reg. Director, Vassar Brothers Medical Center. "Thank you to Congressman Ryan for introducing this crucial legislation that bolsters the hard work and dedication that our nurses undertake to ensure that every patient can access the quality healthcare they need to get and stay healthy."

"The price of prescription medications can often be onerous for many older adults, forcing those on a fixed income to make difficult choices," said Dutchess County Office for the Aging Director Todd Tancredi. "We appreciate any Congressional action to keep drug costs low for Dutchess County seniors, and we thank

Rep. Ryan for introducing this bill."

"The cost of prescription drugs is often times so exorbitantly high, many older adults on a fixed budget struggle to afford them. This could be a life or death situation," said Orange County Office for the Aging Director AnnMarie Maglione. "The Pharmaceutical companies are long in need of regulation, review and reform. We are fortunate to have such a strong, passionate advocate working for us in Washington as Congressman Pat Ryan to address this."

"Everywhere I go I hear from neighbors who are struggling to make ends meet, and for seniors on a fixed income the rise in costs have become overwhelming," said Dutchess County Executive-Elect Sue Serino. "For most, these are lifesaving medications, and no one should be forced to decide what bills to pay so they can afford their prescriptions. Our community is facing an affordability crisis, and we need our partners in federal government to help address these serious issues and provide relief."

"Our state's seniors face soaring prescription drug costs and higher prices on everything from gasoline to food. We owe it to them to work together in a bipartisan way to bring down these costs and raise their quality of life," said State Senator Rob Rolison (39th District). "I applaud Congressman Ryan for introducing legislation to prohibit double-patenting in prescription-drug development. This will increase competition and drive down prices, allowing lower-cost generic medications to enter the market more quickly."

"Pharmaceutical companies have gamed the system for too long, extending their exclusivity and blocking consumer access to more affordable generic versions," said — Assemblyman Jonathan Jacobson (104th District). "We must battle the skyrocketing cost of healthcare from every angle, including the artificially high cost of prescription drugs. I applaud Representative Ryan for this legislation, which could not be done on a State level. I will continue to work with the Congressman on critical issues affecting our constituents, from Central Hudson to lead-contaminated water lines to health care."

The average American spends $1,200 per year on prescription drug costs. While generic drugs constitute 80% of prescriptions filled for Americans, name brand drugs account for 80% of prescription drug spending by Americans. Presently, pharmaceutical companies maintain patent exclusivity on a new drug for 20 years, preventing the manufacture of generic alternatives and maintaining a monopoly on the market for that drug.

Presently, pharmaceutical companies are allowed to extend the 20 year period of patent exclusivity by making trivial changes like minor tweaks to formulations, dosing, or adding extended release that do not impact the drug's benefits. This practice of "double patenting" allows the company to maintain artificially high prices on a drug long term.

The Stopping Pharma's Ripoffs and Drug Savings For All Act would amend current patent law by forcing name brand drug companies to bear the burden of proof to demonstrate how each subsequent patent truly differs from the original patent's drug and is entitled to its own period of exclusivity.

Congressman Ryan has built a record of taking on big corporations that exploit Hudson Valley families for profit. Congressman Ryan spearheaded efforts to hold Central Hudson accountable for its egregious billing practices, demanding the resignation of its CEO and holding a workshop series to connect Central Hudson customers directly with assistance from company representatives. Ryan has since called for the utility company to suspend its planned rate hikes while its billing issues remain. Ryan has demanded big corporations that have polluted the Hudson River bear the cost and responsibility for conducting full clean ups of their pollution, including calling on General Electric to clean its PCB toxins from the River and telecommunications companies to remove networks of legacy cables found to leach toxic lead into the surrounding environment. Most recently, Ryan has led a charge to prevent big oil companies from being allowed to anchor polluting barges in the Hudson River.

Ryan has also made big deliveries to make affordable healthcare more accessible across NY-18, including securing over $2 million for Sun River Health in Beacon and major federal funding for Cornerstone Family Healthcare. Ryan also cosponsors the Drug Shortage Prevention Act.

Happy Thanksgiving!

Thanksgiving gives us time to pause and give thanks for the blessings in our lives and for the incredible opportunities and freedoms this great nation provides. It's our collective responsibility to uphold the values of honor, integrity, and compassion to ensure that our nation continues to flourish for future generations.

As we give thanks for the gifts of family, friends, and good health, our gratitude also extends to the dedicated servicemen and women who are spending Thanksgiving away from their families, tirelessly safeguarding our nation at home and abroad. I feel a personal connection to their sacrifice through my son Trey, a captain in the U.S. Marine Reserves. Representing the brave individuals in our Armed Forces, including over 46,000 veterans in the 24th Congressional District, is a privilege that I hold in the highest regard, and I remain dedicated to serving our veterans and active duty military members in Congress.

To all of NY-24, my family and I extend our warmest wishes for a Happy Thanksgiving filled with joy and gratitude.

"KNARF'S CLASSIC MOVIE"

A Tribute to Stephen Sondheim

It is the 2nd anniversary of Stephen Sondheim's leaving this world, but his music lives on. Stephen Sondheim influenced several generations of theater songwriters, particularly with such landmark musicals as Company, Follies, Sweeney Todd, and Camp which are considered among his best work. His most famous ballad, Send in the Clowns, has been recorded hundreds of times, including by Frank Sinatra

Six of Sondheim's musicals won Tony Awards for best score, and he also received a Pulitzer Prize (Sunday in the Park), an Academy Award (for the song Sooner or Later from the film Dick Tracy, five Olivier Awards and the Presidential Medal of Honor

In 2008, he received a Tony Award for lifetime achievement. Sondheim's music and lyrics gave his shows a dark, dramatic edge, whereas before him, the dominant tone of musicals was frothy and comic. He was sometimes criticized as a composer of unhummable songs, a badge that didn't bother Sondheim.

Frank Sinatra, who had a hit with Sondheim's Send in the Clowns, once complained. "He could make me a lot happier if he'd write more songs for saloon singers like me."

Behind every great performance are hours of dedicated work of such was the task of Steven Sondheim when creating wonderful musical scores for all of our pleasures.

"KNARF'S CLASSIC MOVIE II" Buy or rent Amazon, YouTube West Side Story A Steven Sondheim Musical

West Side Story is a musical based on a book by Arthur Laurents, music by Leonard Bernstein, and lyrics by Stephen Sondheim. It was inspired by William Shakespeare's play Romeo and Juliet.

The story is set in the mid 1950s in the Upper West Side of New York City, then a multi-racial, blue-collar neighborhood.

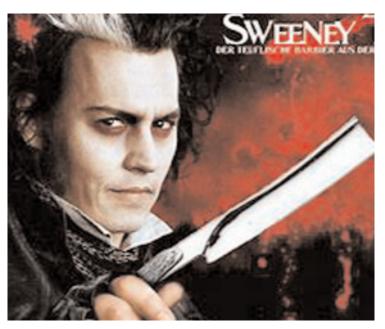

The musical explores the rivalry between the Jets with multiple instigators bent on fighting led by an unwilling Tony vs. he Sharks, led by Bernado. Steeped in a deteriorated Spanish tradition of fighting for your family, extended to gang and gang war because of racial differences.
